

BUSINESS PROFILE

I, Carol J. Flathers, Certified Public Accountant have been practicing public accounting since 1991. My goal has been to provide my clients with the highest level of technical expertise with personalized service.

Your Most Valuable Business Asset...

...may be the accounting service you receive. Whether your business needs are simple or complex, my firm has the full working knowledge of tax laws to serve all your accounting needs from tax planning to financial accounting to long-term planning.

You Are a Part of the Boom...

...that is completely reshaping the way Americans think about small business and personal assets.

The increased sophistication and expanding need for information, capital and systems to manage them is simply staggering.

The boom in the small business sector has also created a sizable gap in the range of accounting services available to them. And in addition to this gap, you have had to sacrifice the personal one-on-one attention you had once expected to be a valuable part of your professional services.

That is why I am concentrating on helping smaller businesses like yours to grow and to become more effective: so that you can have the personal one-on-one service and still receive the accounting services you need.

Because You Are The Decision Maker...

...in a business employing fewer than 25 employees, with annual sales anywhere between $20,000 and $5 million.

Whether business today is good or bad, the plain truth is it can always be better. But in order to increase it, you need to make one key decision now.

You need to choose an accountant and financial advisor to help assess current - and plan for future - profitability. The choice must be an accountant who can offer you continuity as you grow because you'll never be able to outgrow him.

Choose the Accountant Who Can Help You Grow...

...Choose the accountant whose focus is helping small businesses and individuals, with a wide range of accounting services that answer important financial questions.

Questions such as:

How do I lower my income taxes?

How do I run a business to be more profitable, increase cash flow, achieve my goals, and still minimize debt or get out of debt altogether?

How do I know when I have sufficient assets for expansion, retirement, and my other goals?

What other questions should I ask in order to reach my financial goals?

Because every decision you make today has a material impact on your long-term goals, you need to make that key decision today. There are very few sources for long-range financial information - the information absolutely necessary for you to make wise decisions.

As part of my personal one-on-one service, I promise:

Your phone calls will be returned promptly, usually the same day.

Your financial statements will be returned within five to ten business days of receipt of your information.

Your tax returns and any other compliance forms will be completed by or before the promised date.

You Can Never Be Too Big...Or Too Small...

...From simple monthly write-ups including financial statements, bank reconciliations, and appropriate tax work to complete acquisition divested analysis. We want to be with you from the very beginning, and remain with you as much a part of your future as you need.
